

WWOOF - Willing Workers On Organic Farms

David aus Australien im Juli

My name is Dave and I come from Perth, Australia. I'm on a world trip, and have been travelling for the last few months through the Middle East. I've freshly arrived in Germany, having flown in from Cairo, Egypt.

I am a remedial masseur by profession, I first came to Hamburg in January 2007 to study with an Osteopath who teaches here in Germany. I now have many friends throughout this region, and would like to be able to speak German with them.

So this time I'm staying for a while and have a work visa but before I can work I need to improve my German. While WWOOFing in Germany I can live cheaply, eat well, and work in the open air while improving my language skills. WWOOFing is large in Australia, and I've done it in the past, so it was naturally an option that I considered.

I came to the Biohof Harweger for these reasons, but also because it is close to Hamburg and I have friends there. The time I've spent here has been great and the people on the farm are so friendly. It's Summer, so there's lots to do, but the work environment is good. I could only stay a short while this time, but hopefully I will be back soon.
